

About Williams Scotsman

Williams Scotsman is a leader in the sale and distribution of modular and mobile buildings for temporary and permanent use. They have offices throughout the United States and Canada and sell buildings overseas, as well.

Their Need

Williams needed a cost-effective showcase for their Cincinnati-area sales office. The building would house a distribution center adjacent to a sales center. The distribution of modular buildings meant heavy truck traffic and the associated dust and debris. The building would have to be very durable, as well as attractive and inviting. Also, because Williams is a leader in modular construction, the building would have to speak to the highest standards in the industry. It would have to speak clearly to the type and quality of buildings Williams could offer.

Our Solution

Whitley constructed a facility on steel framework to withstand the daily pounding by passing truck traffic. The façade also was done in a highly weather resistant stucco-like paneling that gave the building a look of permanence and sophistication. Both truckers and commercial clients would feel comfortable in the building. Additionally, the building was done in less than 90 days.

