THEIR NEED

Directors decided to test the Youngstown market to see if an emergency care facility was needed. The building would need to be fully equipped with x-ray equipment, a CT scanner, and a lab. It would also require an elaborate power supply with back-up generators to insure uninterrupted care to patients. Because the building was for a market assessment, it need to be relocatable, cost-effective, and completed quickly.

OUR SOLUTION

Our building more than adequately served all of the needs that the hospital directors expected. Technically, it functioned perfectly. The state-of-the-art equipment was accommodated and powered in Whitley's design. It was aesthetically pleasing both inside and out. In fact, it became so valuable to the community that the actual traffic far exceeded their projected "high" figure. The 8,000 square foot building was constructed, shipped, and assembled in a short 8 week period.
